

Call for volunteers

Join us for another 24h conference!

Are you

- Available between now and the beginning of December 2021? (especially on the conference dates 1-2 December 2021)?

-
- An organized and detail-oriented team player?

-
- Familiar with online conferences and webinar platforms?

Where?

Online

When?

24 consecutive hours, beginning 1st December 2021 (2nd December in Asia and Oceania)

Background

Following on from the success of the 24-hour conference on global organized crime in 2020, this year's OC24 conference continues to virtually bring together scholars and practitioners.

General volunteer responsibilities

We have received a record high number of interests, panel and paper submissions. Therefore, volunteers play a significant role in helping to run the conference smoothly. Volunteers will be arranged in teams, and will be asked to:

- Be available to volunteer for at least 8 hours on the day of the conference.
- Support the conference organization and logistics tasks, including (but not limited to) coordinating with the speakers and panellists, managing the sessions' presentations and videos, ensuring the panels run smoothly without technical problems, taking notes of the sessions, etc.
- Support the conference communications and social media tasks, including (but not limited to) promoting the conference on various social media channels, and promotional videos and materials, etc.

The conference will run in five parallel tracks with 75-minute sessions and 15-minute breaks in between sessions. Volunteers will also be asked to assist with the sessions and tracks on the conference dates depending on their time zone (1-2 December 2021).

Volunteers will report to the conference secretariat and receive a letter of appreciation after the conference ends.

If you are interested in joining the conference secretariat, please send an email including your CV, as well as indicating your location / timezone on the conference dates to Ms Thi Hoang at IASOC@globalinitiative.net.